

The company

COLUMBUS McKINNON Industrial Products GmbH

Yale has already been a successful partner within the international corporate network of Columbus McKinnon Corporation (CMCO) for ten years.

Since 2008, Pfaff-silberblau has extended the portfolio of products and services of the company.

Today, the two trademarks of Yale and Pfaff-silberblau are combined under the name of Columbus McKinnon Industrial Products GmbH. As partners, we present a comprehensive range of products whereby each individual product fulfills the wide variety of our customers' requirements with regards to performance, quality and efficiency. Experience, know-how and innovative strength combined with a far-reaching understanding of user requirements is the formula for success on which our portfolio of hoisting and material handling equipment products has been based for a long time. Our tradition of close customer relationships and customer services as well as our constant striving for optimisation provide the basis for all new and further developments of the Yale and Pfaff-silberblau brands.

As a premium supplier of two leading brands, we have set ourselves the target of offering our customers world-wide high-quality hoisting and material handling equipment that is designed for moving, lifting, positioning and securing heavy loads both ergonomically and safely.

Columbus McKinnon Industrial Products GmbH is a subsidiary of Columbus McKinnon Corporation (CMCO), Amherst/USA, one of the world's leading providers of material handling equipment. CMCO has more than 130 years experience in developing and producing cranes, hoists and lifting tackles. Today, the company has more than 2500 employees world-wide.

More information about Columbus McKinnon Industrial Products as well as the brands Yale and Pfaff-silberblau is available on the Internet at www.cmco.eu, www.yale.de and www.pfaff-silberblau.com

